Support Us

Ron Irving, Mathematics Department Chair

Thank you for visiting the Department of Mathematics webpage for online giving. We appreciate your taking the time to learn more about the department and how private support can make a significant difference in the success of the Department of Mathematics' students.

Private gifts are the way in which we remake our programs and provide our students with opportunities that government research grants will not support. That is to say, while state funds will continue to support our core mission of education, and our research grants will support our ongoing scientific research programs, private support allows us to make changes that range from important enhancements in existing programs, invest in our key personnel, and to pursue high-gain objectives in that will take the Department in exciting new directions.
